What to do there

Website in German with useful information on German(s) in Sydney and events in Sydney.

Junior students

The German Language Consultants have developed material in German to use with your students as you walk through the zoo. You could also book in for a lesson and work with the zoo teacher to introduce the animals in German.

Senior and junior students

The Goethe-Institut promotes German culture and language and organises events (see website). School students visiting the GI will see its different departments and will learn how this institution works. The students will also be given a language quiz and they can watch a short film.

Junior and senior students

Try a variety of German breads and specialities. Some days they also have sausages, such as Weißwurst or Leberkäs. Bookings required will in advance. On request, Arthur can show students how to bake their own pretzels. Maximum student number is 20.

Junior and senior students

Next door to the Bakehouse - try genuine Swiss food. Book well in advance. Maximum student number is 40.

Junior and senior students

Try German/Bavarian food in a rustic atmosphere. A musician entertains groups of 50 or more students.

Junior and senior students

Try Swiss food in this family-run restaurant. They cater for groups of up to 55 students. Popular among students is the 3-course menu ($16-24). Students can bring their own soft drinks. Book at least one week in advance.
